Why choose us?

Mark Scutchings
Managing Director of Hearbase

Thank you for visiting the Hearbase website. Hearbase has been working in the field of Audiology for over 10 years and throughout that time we have taken pride in applying the latest technology to the problems of hearing loss and back this up with aftercare and support at the core of our patient service package.

The approach that we have developed contains three essential components:-

Firstly, focusing on your personal needs. This means taking time to understand the particular situations in which you need to improve your hearing and, wherever possible, to offer a range of solutions to suit your lifestyle.

Secondly, we provide clear and straightforward information on our services, both on our website and on our paper based material. This includes clear information on pricing so you have an idea of potential costs ahead of your first appointment.

Thirdly, we operate in accordance with clearly defined clinical protocols. This means that whichever of our hearing aid audiologists you see, at whichever locations you should receive the same level of service and care with a consistency of approach that many companies would struggle to achieve.

We are completely independent of any hearing aid manufacturer or national hearing aid company and so we have access to all of the worlds leading hearing aid brands. This gives you an almost unlimited choice in hearing technology.

I hope that you decide to give us the opportunity to help you and if you have any questions or queries that you would like to receive my personal attention, you are welcome to contact me by e-mail or telephone at any time.
